At 14:04 CMT on 29 September 1950 the new Polish short-wave station on 9530 kilocycles broadcasting a program of Polish music announced itself as "Cracom. We have just broadcast a program of music from 'Straszny Dwor' opera for our Czechoslovak listeners".

At 14:14 GMT this station switched over to a jamming type of transmission, spreading its frequency to obliterate Belgrade in Polish which begins at 14:15 GMT on 9505 kilocycles.

The period 14:15 - 14:30 GMT when Belgrade broadcasts in Polish has hitherto been an interval in the recently inaugurated schedule of the Cracow station.
